

Questions Questions Questions

This is one of the few images of Our Lady from before the time of the Reformation that have survived in the north-east.

It's not in a Catholic Church but it's in an Anglican one.

It's not in Jarrow but it's on Tyneside.

It's not a large image but only a few inches across.

Do you know where it can be found?